The Men Want 85 Cents an Hour Instead of 65—
Strike Ordered Sunday

Boston, March 15.—A strike of dockworkers was started here today to enforce demands for increased wages. Union leaders said that 800 men were affected by the strike order, which was issued by the Coastwise Longshoremen's union yesterday.

Those ordered out were employed on the docks of the Ocean Steamship company, the Clyde line and the Burton line. The men asked 85 cents an hour and $1.20 an hour for overtime. They have been receiving 65 cents and $1. Longshoremen on the docks of the United Fruit company and the Federal line continued to work, the increases in wages having been granted to them recently.

KAISER UNDER NERVOUS STRAIN

Events of Recent Days in Germany Make Him
Irritable

PACES UP AND DOWN
THE PALACE GARDEN

He Cannot Even Tolerate
the Company of Others

Amerongen, Sunday, March 14 (By the Associated Press).—Former Emperor William spent the greater part of today in the garden of Benthinck castle, where he paced up and down with every evidence of being under great nervous tension. Religious services, which have been held regularly there every Sunday, were omitted today. The terrible strain of the events of the last two days seems to weigh heavily upon the mind of the former emperor that he cannot tolerate the company of others, and he makes every effort to get out of doors.

GAY BUENOS AIRES

IS NOT ITSELF

Lid Has Been Clamped Down Upon
Many Resorts in Which the Worst
Sort of License Was Wont to Flourish Openly.

Buenos Aires, March 14.—Buenos Aires, which once had the reputation of being a "wide open" city and "wider than Paris" is "not what it used to be," in the opinion of many travelers who were here before the war and have returned recently.

The gaiety is still here, they say, but it is more decorous and meantime the lid has been clamped upon many resorts in which the worst sort of license was wont to flourish openly. Public gambling places have been closed, dissolute women have been driven off the streets, and beginning this year the police have begun the suppression of houses of ill fame. The claim is made that Buenos Aires is today cleaner morally than ever before in its history, due to the "reform" regulation of a recent city administration and continued by the present one. The city council also a few days ago passed an ordinance imposing a tax of 20,000 pesos annually on cabarets, which is expected to put some of the lower class places out of business. La Epoca, the government organ, in approving the measure, refers to the Buenos Aires cabarets as "establishments of corruption" and demands that minors be prohibited from entering them. What are termed "cabarets" in Buenos Aires are merely dance halls with an orchestra, and with one or two exceptions, are poorly furnished. Drinks are served, but there are none of the entertainment features which made the cabaret successful in the United States. Here and in the restaurants, both of which are open all night, is where most of Buenos Aires' "gaiety" centers.

Theaters and moving picture houses do not close until 12 or 12:30 o'clock. As late as 2 o'clock numerous restaurants and cafes are still filled with men, and some women, with orchestras or electric pianos going full blast. Streets in the "gay life" district are still brilliantly lighted, taxicabs flit about and the sidewalks have many strollers. What is called "reveling" in the restaurants, is, however, not in evidence. The patrons sit and listen to the music, eat or sip their wine or other drinks, but, as an American observer put it, "there are no high jinks."

It is considered that a prohibition movement in Argentina would find a very strong sentiment to overcome. Recent dispatches from the United States telling of the intention of North American prohibitionists to invade South America did not appear to cause much concern here, where indulgence in some sort of alcoholic liquor is almost universal. The newspapers ignored the dispatches editorially. One entire province, Mendoza, is devoted to the wine industry, and just as in the Latin-American countries of Europe, the drinking of wine seems to be regarded almost as natural as the drinking of water. There are probably as many bars in Buenos Aires in proportion to population as there were in New York in pre-prohibition days. In these bars, thirsty Americans just arrived from the United States find familiar drinks. The "Manhattan," "Bronx" and "Liver Club" cocktails are as well known by same names as in New York. The "Martini," however, is here called a "San Martin," which is the name of one of the patriots of Argentine history.

CREW OF BARGE PROBABLY LOST

Vessel Went Down After Breaking Away from Her Tow

MANCHESTER, N. H.,
MAN BELIEVED GONE

He Refused to Enter Small
Boat When Danger
Arose

Newport, R. I., March 15.—Search for the captain and crew of the Consolidation Coal company barge, No. 7, which with barge No. 10, sank after breaking clear of their tow early yesterday morning, was abandoned today. Captain James Mowhiney of Manchester, N. H., remained aboard No. 10, and went down with it, after refusing to accompany his crew in a small boat. The tug Georges Creek, which had the barge in tow, resumed its course today from Norfolk, Va., to Boston with the remaining barge No. 18.

Members of the crew of No. 18 said that No. 7 sank about 2 a. m., about an hour after she and No. 10 broke from the tow. The lost crew would have had time to put off in a small boat, but probably could not have remained afloat long, as the breeze changed into a gale about daylight.

The four survivors from No. 10, who rowed six miles to coast guard station No. 62 at Block Island, were taken to Providence by the steamer Pawtucket.

Barge No. 7 was under command of Captain D. A. Barter of Boston. Her crew was believed to number four men, whose names were not known to the New England agents of the company.

SEN. JOHNSON STANDS ALONE IN NO. DAKOTA

Other Candidates for Presidential Nomination Withdrew Their Names
From Primary of March 16.

Bismarck, N. D., March 15.—North Dakota is the unique situation of a presidential preference primary on March 16 with but one candidate entered. Senator Hiram W. Johnson stands alone in the field. Intraparty delegation contests, pivoting about the Non-Partisan league, constitute the chief backed wire entanglements on the voters' battlefield.

Major General Leonard Wood and Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois refrained from filing nominations in this state after a second Republican state convention had voted that delegates to the national convention should go unstructured.

William Jennings Bryan withdrew his name as Democratic candidate, leaving the California senator a challenger without opposition.

The primary is to elect for each party a national committee, five presidential electors and 10 national convention delegates.

For national committee the Republicans have two candidates and the Democrats two; for presidential electors, Republicans 14, Democrats 10; for national delegates, Republicans 22, Democrats 20. The primary ballot includes one complete set of delegates named by a group which endorsed Senator Johnson.

Political observers declare the ranks of both Republicans and Democrats within the state have been divided on the issue of the Non-Partisan league. Voters of each party have before them candidates declared to be informally supported by the farmers' organization as opposed to "old line" nominees.

There is considerable speculation in political circles as to whether the Republican delegates elected will be bound to vote for Senator Johnson at the Chicago convention. Under the state law the delegate takes an oath that he will to the best of his judgment and ability, faithfully carry out the wishes of his political party as expressed by the primary.

For the first time in this state, women will vote for presidential electors but, under a ruling of the state supreme court, cannot vote for delegates to the national convention, although the state may be represented in those conventions by women delegates, one of whom has been nominated by each party. The primary ballot includes the name of William Grant Webster, Republican, of New York, for vice-president. Four constitutional amendments and four initiated measures to repeal laws affecting boxing, sale of cigarettes, Sunday baseball and theaters are to be voted upon.

TOO MUCH GOLD IN AMERICA.

To Enable Prices to Come Down in Great Britain.

London, March 15.—The present high cost of food in Europe is attributed by Sir Auckland Geddes, president of the board of trade, to the fact that there is an enormous accumulation of gold in America, which he estimated at roughly nine times more than before the war. In an address at the Victoria Working Men's club he said currency had gone down with a bang. That was what they meant when they said that cost of living had advanced.

Until the gold now in America began to flow to this country a fall in the cost of living could not be expected, said Sir Auckland. There was only one solution of the present position, and that was that somehow this country would have to largely increase its volume of production. This, he said, would bring about a fall in prices of commodities.

118 to 105, and passage of a resolution in favor of the separation of church and state, were two of the decisions taken by the Swedish Socialist party Congress whose labors here have just come to a close.

These decisions, however, were overshadowed by internal party upheavals which lasted throughout the Congress, much to the joy of the bolshewist and other extremist factions, as well as of rival political parties.

During the economic crisis, profiteering reared its head in Sweden, and several leading Socialists were alleged to have been connected with companies accused of making excessive profits. Whereupon, a cry was raised to read all of them out of the party.

Hjalmar Branting, ex-minister of finance and a leading Socialist, defended G. Kallman, formerly chairman of the ways and means committee, Varner Ryden, formerly minister of education, Herman Lindquist, president of the second chamber, and Senator C. G. Magnusson, burgomaster of Stockholm, Herman Lindquist alone weathered the storm. He was chairman of a company called the Arbeterbransle, which imported coal and coke from Germany during the war through Parvus, the German Socialist financier. Branting succeeded in having Lindquist retain his seat as president of the second chamber.

The Socialists are sure of retaining their numerical superiority in Parliament at least until after the general election next October.
